Dear Ms McElroy

Re: Melbourne's Water Future strategy – presentation and information session

I write to offer your organisation the opportunity to stage a member event featuring a Melbourne's Water Future presentation from a senior member of the Office of Living Victoria (OLV).

The draft Melbourne's Water Future strategy was developed by OLV, which has been established to drive the Government's Living Victoria urban water reforms.

The draft strategy, launched by the Minister for Water on 1 July 2013, signals a new era in water cycle planning and management and provides an integrated water systems approach for responding to Melbourne's increasing water service system costs, variable climate and future population growth.

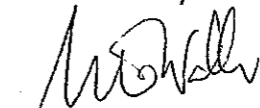

This new phase in the evolution of Melbourne's water services system builds on the work of water corporations and local councils to adopt an inter-generational outlook on Melbourne's water future.

The public will be invited to participate in public consultation forums on the draft strategy and OLV is already engaging with key stakeholders on its implementation.

As key stakeholders in the reforms, OLV would like to provide your members with a presentation and information session on the draft strategy. It is proposed the session would be held at your convenience between August and September 2013.

For further information, please contact Luke Ouvaroff, OLV's Stakeholder and Communications Manager, on (03) 9027 4516 or luke.ouvaroff@olv.vic.gov.au.

Yours sincerely

Mike Waller
